Other Activities

On November 25, 2020, SCI launched an initiative entitled “Grimca”. “Grimca” is a series of online conversations, where various topics are addressed with known and unknown people and with an interactive audience. The aim of this initiative is to help a better understanding of diversity, in order to create more inclusive and cohesive communities beyond cultural, religious, social and ethnic differences by challenging prejudice, stereotypes and discrimination. This initiative was launched on November 25, contributing to the activities organized for the International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women. In this first series of “Grimca” the speaker Ina Kasimati, shared with the audience her story and the courageous journey to get out of the cycle of violence. As part of the days of activism against gender based violence, the second guest was Bledar Zeneli, who is a Psychotherapist by profession and currently works as a Counselor in the Counseling Line for Men and Boys. Bledar offered us a different approach to violence by analyzing what happens in the psychic of a perpetrator. Over 20 people attended the virtual conversation that took place at Zoom, by freely discussing sharing their perspectives, thoughts and concerns. This initiative has been embraced with interest by the public, reaching over 3000 people who have seen the series on Facebook, thus expanding SCI’s audience. ◆ The WeBER 2.0 project follows in the footsteps of the previous WeBER project for Public Administration monitoring. However, unlike the first, this project is divided into two monitoring cycles: (a) the first cycle included 2019-2020 and (b) the second 2021-2022. The work of the group members during the first cycle was based mainly on the SIGMA principles, while the second will focus on piloting public administration reform monitoring methods for sectoral policies based on the European Union's categorization of these policies. WeBER MWG will aim to define the priority policy sectors where the monitoring methodology will be piloted and the presentation of the public consultation methodology implemented in the European Union. Also, like the previous WeBER project, this project aims to help local civil society organizations engage in monitoring public administration reform by providing five grants.

◆ Since April 2020, SCI was part of the working group (16 CSOs) on drafting the code of standards. The purpose of this Code of Standards is to improve the effectiveness of the non-profit sector's work and to increase the trust of supporters and beneficiaries by increasing transparency.
